

Sarah Jones - Creating the perfect working environment

Sarah Jones can be contacted on 01344 779 438
Project management services for Creating the Perfect Working Environment

Sarah's consultancy offers a project management service dedicated to creating the perfect working environment. From start to finish the design and construction of your ideal office is managed in its entirety. The consultancy undertakes to deliver your projects in the manner that you would expect; reliably, effectively and efficiently, thus saving you time and money.

At the start of the project time is spent with the customer identifying the needs and organisational objectives. A step-by-step process follows to ensure every detail is considered. In order to provide the best solution, it is necessary to understand your business in terms of personnel numbers, information flow, inter-departmental relationships, the future expansion requirements, and services required. Once the objectives of the project have been agreed a site survey can be carried out to present the options available.

Sarah's business prides itself in offering a no-nonsense approach to the design and refurbishment needs of its clients. Projects are approached with the client - as a team. This method only adds to the project and enhances the communication throughout the refurbishment process.

The consultancy has been involved in a variety of design and project management solutions for clients as varied as health centres through to architectural offices. Creating the perfect working environment is accessible to all sizes of business. With each project managed, the same process of design and project management has been applied, with a great deal of success.

A complete range of services is provided but work can be channelled through your existing contractors if you require. And when the job is completed, and you are settled into your new environment, the consultancy provides ongoing, after-care services.

So why choose Sarah?

- focused on offering you a complete service from design to completion
- she delivers a down to earth approach with a lot of common sense
- she manages other service providers to deliver the complete service

The aim is to help you to make effective use of your time, workspace and money, allowing you to concentrate on what you do best - run your business. So choose Sarah – dedicated to creating the perfect working environment.

copyright © 2007 Knowledge-Counsel. All Rights Reserved